'SOCIETY BURGLAR'
STILL AT LARGE

After a month of jewellery burglaries from some of London's most fashionable homes, Scotland Yard reports little progress in the identification and apprehension of the so-called "Society Burglar". The victim of the latest theft, Lady Leeds, has become so overwrought by the invasion of her bedroom by this unknown man and by the loss of her prized diamond tiara, that she has been hospitalised at the suggestion of her physician. Although any impetus to attack the increasing problem of crime should be welcomed, it is unfortunate that impetus comes more strongly when the class of victims is expanded.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES

Sir, — Surely it is time that some effectual steps should be taken to curb the ambition of our burglars, be they "Society" or not; and, if necessary, by legislation. Prevention is better than cure, and I agree with those who think that a fox terrier in the house is the best means of giving the alarm. But something more than a dog is required. I would suggest the "cat", besides penal servitude, in all cases of burglary, whether the burglars succeed in carrying away anything or not. The "cat" in the sense in which I refer to it, has been most successful as a deterrent in case of personal robbery with violence, and other crimes. Why should it not at once be applied to our burglars, whose calling necessarily involves personal violence?

Your obedient servant,
H.T.B.

'SOCIETY BURGLAR' TAKE CLIMBS TO £14,000

That elusive and so-far successful burglar commonly known as the 'Society Burglar' has gotten away with jewels valued at £14,000 by the seven victims to date. Speculation continues as to the identity of the burglar who seems to be acquainted with the various and sometimes ingenious hiding places of his victims' jewels.

The other striking aspects of the modus operandi are the taking of only one select piece each time and the occurrence of all thefts when the victims are not at home.

We have provided for the interest of our readers a list of the various jewels stolen and their values.

FOREIGN NEWS

We have received the following telegrams through the Reuters' Agency:

THE TONQUIN DELIMITATION COMMISSION Paris, July 2

A telegram received here from Hanoi of today's date, announces that the Viceroy of Yunnan, accompanied by Teheou, the first Chinese Commissioner, has left Khaihoufou on the way to Laokai, where they will join the French members of the Frontier Commission.

The labours of the Commission, which were suspended at the beginning of the hot season, will be resumed at that part of the frontier of the 16th inst.

OLDENBURG JEWELS STOLEN Oldenburg, July 2

The jewels of the Duchess of Oldenburg were stolen from the Residenz-Schloss late yesterday afternoon. Sentries guarding the jewels left their posts when smoke began billowing from a small room adjacent to that in which the treasure was kept. The "fire" had apparently been caused by a smoke bomb used by the thief. The police admit to few other clues, but have closed the borders as a first precautionary step. They have also detained several internationally suspected criminals including Helmut Schnitzler and Thomas O'Neill, but found no evidence to hold them.

THE UNITED STATES Philadelphia, July 3

The Government of the State of Georgia pursues the system of hiring out the convicts in the penitentiaries for work in coal pits. About 100 thus employed, under a guard, in Dade County, after complaining of ill-treatment, revolted, entrenched themselves in a building, and declined to resume work. Their keeper notified the Governor that they declared they would die before surrendering, and he added that some of them must be killed or all must be starved into subordination. The Governor advised a recourse to the plan of starvation.

The guards accordingly made arrangements yesterday to prevent them from obtaining food or water. The convicts have not yet yielded. Many of them are serving life sentences.

DENMARK

Despite persistent denials by Berlingske Tidende, the semi-official organ, the Danish Army have begun exercises of preparedness.

IRELAND Dublin, July 3

At a meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians yesterday, the solicitor to the board informed the members that the labourers who had been granted cottages under the Labourers' Act refused to pay rent for their holdings, and had entered into a combination with that object in several districts. The collectors were intimating that if the strike against this payment of rent continued, they would be obliged to give up the collection altogether. The guardians decided on prosecuting the labourers who refused to pay rent, and to evict the others should they persist in their present course.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES

Sir, — Will you allow me to ask a question of your correspondents who want to disperse the vicious inhabitants of Flower and Dorset Streets? There are no lower streets in London, and, if they are driven out of these, where are they to go? The horror and excitement caused by the murder of the Whitechapel outcasts imply a universal belief that they had a right to life. If they had, then they had the further right to hire shelter from the bitterness of the English night. If they had no such right, then it was, on the whole, a good thing that they fell in with unknown surgical genius. He has made his contribution towards solving the "problem of clearing the East-End of its vicious inhabitants." The typical "Annie Chapman" will always find someone in London town to let her have a "doss" for a consideration. If she is systematically "dispersed," two results will follow. She will carry her taint to streets hither to untainted, and she will be mulcted in larger sums than before for the accommodation. The price of a doss will rise from 8d. to 10d. or a shilling, the extra pennies representing an insurance fund against prosecution and disturbance. Are these the sort of results that the Rev. Vincent Shelby is working for?

If vestries seem apathetic in the matter of systematic dispersal, it often is because they know that the demand for action is merely an astute manoeuvre on the part of a house monger, who is anxious that the property should become "purchase-able at a fair price."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES

Sir, — I should like to write about the decline of morals in the Empire, and the attendant risks. Remember - Rome's moral excesses preceded her fall! Too many of our young people regard the advantages they enjoy as permanent. They ought to recognise that there are maintenance fees.

WALLINDEN'S BODY BOUND FOR GERMAN BURIAL

The body of Klaus Wallinden, the high-wire artist who fell to his death during a performance at the Royal Italian Circus last week, was put aboard the S. S. Hamburg yesterday bound for his native Germany for burial. Wallinden had long enjoyed the acclaim of the world for his tight-rope acrobatics. The usually sure-footed Wallinden's inexplicable fall resulted in the aerial wonder's tragic death when the waiting net gave way.
